

ABSTRACT:

The main objective of this proposal is to give an account of the impacts of greenhouse effects and how it is changing the climatical conditions of Kenya as a country and how it is affecting tourism, giving a solution on how to prevent these effects. The study undertaken will be based on Maasai Mara National Park. It will give a brief introduction and background information, showing how greenhouse effect became discovered. The problem statement will provide an overview of the problems accounting to greenhouse effects with a discussion of what is being done wrong siting a recommendation of what should be done. The scope of study will cover the places where the study will be concentrated upon, giving feedback directly from these sites